

Energy and Responsibility: A Conference on Ethics and the Environment

April 10-12, 2008
Hilton Hotel
Knoxville, Tennessee

Conference Theme

Conflicts and controversies about energy have become familiar features of the political and economic landscape around the globe. The environmental consequences of energy production, distribution, consumption, and policy invite consideration of the ethical implications of both practice and policy. At Energy & Responsibility: A Conference on Ethics and the Environment, we invite ethicists, legal theorists, energy policy makers, energy entrepreneurs, and environmental activists to engage in a conversation about ethics and responsibility in the contested terrain of energy and the environment. Keynote speakers include:

Keynote Speakers

- Robert H. Socolow, Princeton University
- Henry Shue, Merton College, Oxford
- Dale Jamieson, New York University
- Richard Morgenstern, Resources for the Future
- Dale Bryk, Natural Resources Defense Council and Yale University

Online registration and other information is available at the Conference web site—
